

THE IDSMA-2DIS CHARTER OF VALUES

Objective

The purpose of this document is to present the conditions under which our structure is ready to accept a partnership with a third party.

By agreeing to sign this form, you agree with us to respect these principles throughout our partnership.

We reserve ourselves the right to immediately cease all collaboration, unilaterally, in the event that one of the principles below is not respected.

Please also note that this document may be revised without notice.

We understand that you may have questions regarding the principles set out below. It will be a pleasure for us to answer your questions. To do so, you can contact us by sending an email to info@idsma2dis.com.

The principles of the charter of values

Principle 1: honesty and ethics

Ensure practices that exclude corruption and conflicts of interest and that may lead to dishonest situations.

Principle 2: safety and respect for the environment

The projects and the various activities carried out must not, in any case, endanger the health and safety of local and international populations and the environment.

If incidents occur, it is imperative to take steps to correct the situation.

Principle 3: The seed

Give back to the local populations a certain percentage of the profits drawn from the activities and projects carried out using the assets (land, water, vegetation, etc.) of the countries in which or through which these activities are carried out.

Principle 4: Knowledge sharing and transmission

Share, within the framework of the collaboration, a certain quantity and quality of information in order to succeed in the subjects of collaboration.

Principle 5: Transparency

Be able to communicate, when necessary, and be open and transparent with all stakeholders, including the public and the community.

Principle 6: Compliance with applicable laws

Comply with all the laws and regulations in force in the countries where the activities and projects are carried out.

If there is a difference between a legal obligation and our principles or policies, the higher standard will be applied.

Principle 7: Confidentiality and respect for privacy

Protect confidential information and intellectual property of collaborative projects and activities. We must also protect the confidential information of partners and all third parties with whom we interact in the context of business relationships.

Principle 8: Lawful Activities

Ensure that it does not engage in illegal or fraudulent activities and does not involve its business partners and third parties in illegal and fraudulent activities.
